Dear Dr. Vamsi Sir,

I hope this message finds you well.

About a week ago, I received a call from the police station regarding the pending rent of our lab premises, which has not been paid for many months. I conveyed to them that I had already stepped away from the lab responsibilities (even though you have not formally accepted my resignation, it is already in your notice that I am not looking after the lab any more).

However, the police informed me that since the building owner has filed a police complaint for non-receipt of rent, they require official communication regarding my resignation. They clearly mentioned that oral explanation is not sufficient. Their words were:

- "If you are not responsible, then who is? If you are not liable, please provide official correspondence showing your resignation."

Sir, I had also tried calling you from the police station itself, but unfortunately my call went unanswered. Even after my earlier mails, I have not received any response or official communication from your side.

This situation is creating great stress for me. With utmost respect, I kindly request you to:

1. Provide an official acknowledgment of my resignation, OR
2. Directly address this matter with the police/building owner so the liability is clarified.

If there is no response, I will be left with no option but to share all the communication records with the police so that they can proceed appropriately.

I sincerely request your urgent cooperation to resolve this matter respectfully and lawfully. Please respond to this mail at the earliest or kindly connect with me over a call.

Thanks N Regards,
S Lokanatha Patro
